

CHAENG slag pot price

CHAENG is a large steel castings manufacturer with strong casting and machining capacity, which can produce 1-150tons slag pot according to customers' drawings and requirements. The slag pots made by CHAENG has the following advantages:

1. Mittal orders over 100 CHAENG slag pots annually

Large steel plant of the world - Mittal Group purchases CHAENG slag pot every year since 2008. The order amount has been over 100 pieces / year by now.

2. Longer service life, 6000 usage times

CHAENG slag pot can ensure 6000 times of usage frequency; and the first maintenance time is 2-3 months later than peers. The long service life of CHAENG slag pot greatly reduce the maintenance cost of users.

3. Advanced Level-2 Flaw Detection Standard

CHAENG uses advanced detection equipment to perform nondestructive testing on each slag pot, to ensure the internal quality of slag pot. The key parts can reach level-2 testing standards of GB7233-2007, and CHAENG can customize the process according to the customer's specific testing standards.

4. Exported to 50 countries and areas

CHAENG customizes slag pots according to customer drawings, obtaining market reputation with high-precision technology. CHAENG slag pots have been successfully exported to the United States, Mexico, Brazil, India, South Korea, Japan, Russia, more than 50 countries and regions.

Then what is the price of CHAENG slag pot?

This is a concern for many customers. To calculate the cost, we need to know the required raw material, demands on machining process, detailed technical requirements and shipping address. So only when the customer provides specific structural drawings and specifies the material, single weight, technical requirements, transportation location, etc, can we provide the quotation for the customer.
